TOBACCO

Kentucky's Final Crop Report—Burley Yield 954 Pounds.

In his final Kentucky crop report for this year, Commissioner of Agriculture J. W. Newman said that the November report was delayed a few days, so that the farmers may get a very good idea of the yield of their crop. This is necessary in the case of tobacco also. There will be no more reports until May 1, 1915. In speaking of tobacco, he said:

"The yield of Burley tobacco is estimated at 954 pounds per acre, as compared with an estimate of 635 pounds per acre last year. However, more or less tobacco is damaged in quality as the result of excessive rains during the early part of October. The damage is estimated at 17 per cent. For the same reason dark tobacco is estimated to be damaged at 13 per cent, with a yield of 840 pounds per acre, as against 503 pounds per acre last year."

GALLAHER WILL BUY ON HENDERSON MARKET.

Mr. Thomas Gallaher of Belfast, Ireland, has arrived at Henderson, Ky., and is ready to buy tobacco as soon as the loose leaf buds open, which will be on December 7. "I will be in the Henderson market for tobacco this year, and I believe that the tobacco here will command a very fair price," said Mr. Gallaher, when interviewed at Henderson, Ky., last Wednesday. He admits that the tobacco there is of excellent grade, and says that the war will not keep him from buying. Mr. Gallaher is one of the largest tobacco buyers and manufacturers in the world.—Western Tobacco Journal.

CUT OUT THE HAW, HAW!

Senator Smith of Arizona had a law preceptor back in Kentucky who gave him a bit of advice that he has followed through all these years. The professor said:

"Avoid cultivating too much sense of humor. Don't crack jokes, but look serious. If you are trying a case that seems funny to you, remember that to somebody it may be a tragedy. Above all things, as you go through life, be solemn; be as solemn as an ass."

So, Marcus Smith has abstemiously avoided jokes and jest, and is unlikely now to show any form as a senatorial comedian. He has large, glittering eyes and wears a formidable mustache—not one of those long, straggly affairs like a broncho's tail, but a thick, massive structure like a cornucopia. And he can look as savage as a box office man or the president of a country bank.

BELOIAN IMMIGRANTS.

The Belgians are among the best farmers in the world. Actually millions of them have been ruined by the ruthless occupation of their country. The Belgians, whose sufferings have been immortalized by Longfellow in "Evangeline," were a mere handful of slightly mistreated people compared with the Belgians of 1914. Can not something be done in an organized way to establish in America those of the Belgian farmers who desire to make homes in a new land, under a new flag, and a flag that stands for peace?

BOYS CAPTURE THREE 'COONS.

(Mr. Olivet Tribune.) Master Leslie Buckner, Osmer Deming and Robert Insko went out on a 'coon hunt last Friday night and met with great success, rounding up three large 'coons with the assistance of a battery of dogs. This is considered a good haul, especially so in this case, the hunters being small boys.

PENSIONS FOR KENTUCKIANS.

THE TURKEY.

The turkey on the woodpile stood, And this is what he said: "My feathered friends, tomorrow is a day of gloom and dread. For then a man will come and pick the fattest of our flock, To offer up in sacrifice Upon the chopping block. 'Some heathen god they worship' called Thanksgiving, I have heard; Placating it with cakes and pies. And many a hapless bird, So, if you miss me from the roost, At morning, you can say: 'Aha! they butchered him to make A Yankee holiday.'"

OUR COLORED MOON-LIGHT SCHOOLS

Our night school, which opened October 12, will run ten consecutive weeks. We are using four rooms—the teachers being Lottie Stockton, Nora Ward, Allie Young and Frances Strawder. Arithmetic, reading, writing, spelling, language and sanitation are the subjects taught. All materials, such as rulers, pencils, tablets, etc., are furnished free of cost to the pupils. Tuition is optional, according to their ability to pay; $3 having been collected thus far.

We have enrolled 100, with an average nightly attendance of 65—many of whom have not missed a night. The teachers and pupils are so interested in the work that neither will give up the other, although the former were to teach two weeks only, their places then being taken by my pupils. Nevertheless, many of the high school pupils are assisting. Also ten persons are being given private lessons at their homes.

Rev. Robert Jackson, Dr. L. M. Hagood, the school board, Miss Jessie Yancey, Superintendent Caplinger, the Morning Independent, the Daily Bulletin, The Public Ledger, together with Mrs. J. Foster Barbour and Mrs. James B. Ross of the local Women's Forward Movement, have done everything within their power to make our night school a certainty, its work pleasant and successful. The teachers have shown devotion, self-sacrifice and patience unsurpassed in the history of our school. I spend my time between both schools each night. Also have advanced, or stood for, $75—assuring each teacher $10.

The woman who thought of night schools for Kentucky was inspired and conceived a miracle. The woman who put this thought into operation is a genius and wrought a miracle. Those who are in any way contributing to the success of the night schools are not only heroes and heroines, but are doing the noblest work of the century.

People ranging in ages from 12 to 80, who just a few days ago started to learn to read with their books upside down, who printed their names, if at all, and whose fingers and hands had to be practically reformed if they wrote at all—then to see these same persons now writing, reading and taking a new hold on life—is this not a miracle? We have enrolled children, parents and grandparents. These people prize the work they do (reading, writing, figures, spelling, etc.) as though it came from Heaven.

These grown-ups have traits common to children—telling on each other, desiring to excel each other, laughing at each other, copying from each other or peeping into the book, fake excuses for being tardy or absent, while they are less inclined to forgive or forget a supposed insult, yet at the same time showing greater interest and appreciation. Hence, we see they are intensely human and the teacher who instructs them effectively must be not only patient, personified, but must have sufficient tact to overcome their sensitiveness and pride, which keeps many of them from enrolling in the moon-light schools.

ELDERLY PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE VINOL

Aged Texas Woman Says: "Old People Who Are Weak and Feeble Should Know the Merits of Vinol."

Grand Saline, Texas.—"I am an aged woman, and for a long time was weak and feeble, but I have found Vinol to be the best medicine to create strength for old people and for chronic colds I have ever taken. It has restored my health and strength so that I feel almost young again; in fact, I am now doing all my own housework."

Old people who are weak and feeble should try Vinol and know its merits as I do. I have proved Vinol a good reliable medicine and much cheaper than paying doctor's bills, and you may publish what I say about Vinol for the benefit of others.—Mrs. FANNIE E. ROBERTS, Grand Saline, Texas.

Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, sharpens the appetite, aids digestion, enriches the blood, building up natural strength and energy.

We have seen such splendid results from its use that we return the money in every case where Vinol fails to build up and strengthen feeble old people, delicate children and the weak, nervous, run-down and debilitated, or stop chronic colds, coughs or bronchitis.

HELPLESS AS BABY

Down in Mind Unable to Work, and What Helped Her.

Summit Point, W. Va.—Mrs. Anna Belle Emey, of this place, says: "I suffered for 15 years with an awful pain in my right side, caused from womanly trouble, and doctored lots for it, but without success. I suffered so very much, that I became down in mind, and as helpless as a baby. I was in the worst kind of shape. Was unable to do any work. I began taking Cardui, the woman's tonic, and got relief from the very first dose. By the time I had taken 12 bottles, my health was completely restored. I am now 48 years old, but feel as good as I did when only 16."

Cardui certainly saved me from losing my mind, and I feel it my duty to speak in its favor. I wish I had some power over poor, suffering women, and could make them know the good it would do them.

If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, it will certainly be worth your while to give Cardui a trial. It has been helping weak women for more than 50 years, and will help you, too.

Try Cardui. Your druggist sells it.

Some Interesting Facts About Germany

Facts concerning Germany's remarkable growth and development in recent years are contained in a statement given to the press by Gilbert H. Grosvenor, director and editor of the National Geographic Society of Washington:

"Only Belgium, Holland, Japan and the United Kingdom have denser populations than Germany. That country manages to crowd a population of 67,000,000 people into a territory so small that you could add New England to it and still have an area smaller than the state of Texas."

"Possessing only one-fifth of the area of Europe, Germany produces one-seventh of Europe's wheat, one-fifth of its oats, one-fourth of its rye and one-third of its potatoes."

"The average farm in Germany is very small. Out of a total of 5,756,000 farms nearly one-half are smaller than 2½ acres, and less than 700,000 are larger than 25 acres. Of our own 5,737,000 farms more than three-fifths contain upward of 50 acres."

"The Germans use more commercial fertilizer than any other three nations on earth, and yet, with all the coaxing resulting from intensive farming and small farms, Germany is not able, in ordinary times, to produce enough food-stuff to meet the demands of its people. It imported farm produce to the value of a quarter of a billion dollars more than it exported during a recent year, and groceries and confections to the amount of $120,000,000 above the exports of raw materials was $100,000,000 against the empire."

"In the past quarter of a century no other nation made such a wonderful bid for foreign trade as Germany. While the trade of the United States increased 275 per cent, in that time and Great Britain's increased 190 per cent, Germany's increased 300 per cent. The secret of this success lies in the efforts to meet every condition of every market into which German goods went. Germany's merchant marine in 25 years rose from a negligible quantity to 4,850 ships with a net register of 3,153,000 tons, and employing 78,000 sailors."

"Germany takes a different view of railroad rebates from that of the United States. A small shipper is always required to pay higher rates than a big shipper, and goods passing through Germany get a lower rate than goods shipped from one German point to another. Railroad rates on export merchandise are much lower than domestic rates. When the Nuremberg toy makers want to assist the Hamburg Kris Kringle the freight rate is $9.33 per ton; when they want to assist the New York Santa Claus it is only $5.83 per ton."

"The theory of the German government is that every able-bodied man is entitled to work and that the government must find something for him to do if he can not find it himself. Wherever there is a disagreement between a laborer and his employer it must be settled in a court created for that purpose. Neither party is permitted by law to offer or accept a compromise."

"The people of German cities live amid surroundings of the law that are different in theory and practice from our own. In Berlin, for instance, it is forbidden in apartment houses to water flowers except between the hours of 4 and 5 in the morning; no one can play a piano before 7 in the morning or after 9 at night; no bedding may be aired from a front window; bathing at night is forbidden; one may not employ a servant without complying with police regulations or change his residence without police sanction. The German justifies these things on the ground that while they may sometimes interfere with his convenience, by and large they protect him from annoyances much greater than those that they entail. He says, they may give him a freedom from annoyances without his household that are infinitely more bothersome than the restraints they impose within his household."

SUSPICIOUS CHARACTERS.
